

PTS Awards 2023 Launched

London, November 2023: The Philatelic Traders' Society is delighted to announce that the PTS Awards celebrating the philatelic industry are back for a fourth year. Launched in 2020 to celebrate the best in the business, the awards seek to recognise PTS Members who invest in the hobby, innovate, and inspire others. They are well respected within the philatelic community and award winners and runners-up proudly display their PTS Award badges.

This year, the PTS is excited to introduce four new categories!

The categories this year are:

- Best Website
- Best Publication (including catalogues, magazines, reference material etc.)
- Best Social Media
- Best Physical Space (including retail stores, auction rooms, stamp show stand concepts etc.)

This year, not only will PTS Members and members of the public be asked for nominations, but winners of the categories will be decided purely based on a public People's Choice vote.

Simon Carson, PTS Chairman comments

'The PTS Awards are a wonderful way for us to celebrate the best-in-class and rising stars within our philatelic community. We have hundreds of members so it's nice to take some time at the end of each year to celebrate those pushing the boundaries in how they interact with collectors. I'm thrilled that we have some new categories this year and can't wait to see who is nominated, and who the public vote for as their winners!"
